CORE Academic Honesty Acknowledgement Form for Students and Parents/Guardians

Central Dauphin School District is committed to providing rigorous and relevant coursework through CORE. The expectation of all CDS D students is that they produce their own work in all courses, whether they meet face-to-face or are held online, to maintain the highest academic standards of honesty. While we recognize that most students regularly demonstrate these characteristics, it never hurts to remind people of both the expectations and consequences. With that in mind, we are requiring any students and parents/guardians that choose CORE to read and review the academic honesty standards to which all students will be held. To ensure these are read, we are requiring both the student and a parent/guardian to sign the form to acknowledge receipt of these academic honesty standards, types of academic dishonesty and consequences for such dishonesty. More information is also available for your reference in the CDS D Code of Conduct.

CDS D Academic Honesty Standards:

- Keep your username and password confidential
- Never allow anyone else to log-in to your account
- Produce your own work
- Complete course activities yourself
- Take course quizzes, tests and/or exams without the assistance of others

Types of Academic Dishonesty Include (but are not limited to):

- Copying from others on an assignment or assessment
- Allowing another student to copy from you on an assignment or assessment
- Having someone else produce work you submit as your own
- Having someone else complete an assessment you were assigned
- Giving another student information that offers them an advantage (i.e.: telling them what to expect on a test)
- Plagiarism – using words or ideas of others without proper credit given (citing sources)

Consequences:

Each infraction will be looked at on a case-by-case basis to determine the consequence(s) that is/are most appropriate to the specific offense. These include earning a zero (0) on assignment/assessment, removal from the cyber course and the course retaken in an in-class setting, and/or inability to take any additional cyber courses through the Central Dauphin School District.
